MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN

Dear Sanyu Supporters,

The year of our Lord Jesus Christ 2012 has started with a lot of hope. We hope this year to become a formal, registered NGO. We hope to complete the organization's 5 year strategic plan. We hope to finalize Sanyu Babies Home, first ever, Human Resources Manual. We have been promised a double cabin pickup truck through our dear supporter and member of the board of Governors. We hope that promise will be realised soon. We are indeed trusting God for great breakthroughs this year. Your continued prayers and support will continue to be greatly appreciated. May God bless you always.

Yours in Christ,

Rev. Prof. Sam Luboga – Board Chairman

MESSAGE FROM THE ADMINISTRATOR

Another Sanyu year finished in December and I am very pleased to inform you that it was a year of great success. We have worked so hard to make sure that the main objective of the home, which is to see that all children are reintegrated into community, is achieved. We have experienced excellent results; with 76 new admissions into Sanyu's care in 2011, 44 were fostered/ adopted and 18 reunited with their families. To exemplify this fact, Sanyu won the 2011 Tumaini award in the category of child protection and the 2011 Nambi Award. We thank all of you who have in the last quarter generously given your time, skills, love, funds and donations in kind to make Sanyu a "Home of Joy". Great thanks go to The Holden Uganda Foundation under the leadership of Sarah Erwin for the new babies' bathrooms, Mrs. Kamulegeya Sophia of Time 2 Play Children's Entertainment & Leisure Centre and friends in UK under the leadership of Charlotte Ironmonger for the children's trips/ days out, Judith Hard and all the Sanyu friends who contributed towards the Sanyu Christmas party. As we enter a New Year there are still plenty of great opportunities for all of you, our dear friends, to grab God's blessings by supporting the Sanyu Babies' Home family, knowing that "at a proper time, you shall reap a harvest if you do not give up."

ARRIVAL OF FRANK OSBORN MAYANJA

Frank arrived at Sanyu on 16th January 2012 brought to us by the police at Old Kampala police station. A lady had brought him to the police saying she sells vegetables in the Mengo area and also looked after people's children while they go to work during the day. She said that on 16th August 2011 a man had come to her asking that she took care of his son Frank while he travelled to Sudan for a few days. Since then the man has not re-appeared to collect Frank and the woman could no longer afford to care for Frank. The lady has tried to trace the father but with no success. When Frank arrived he was a healthy, strong willed toddler who had been used to an adult environment so found it difficult to adapt to life in the babies' home. In the first few weeks he caught malaria and was very sick, as a result he suffered quite a few seizures and it was found he suffers from epilepsy. He is doing well, learning to interact with the other children and loves to talk, telling stories to anyone who will listen – in Luganda that is! We are still trying to find the father.

ARRIVAL OF VIVIEN NASSANGA

Vivien arrived on 30th January 2012 brought to us by the organization Action for Children. Her biological mother was 16 years old who had been forced in marriage by her grandmother. At the time when she was forced to marry she was in Primary 6 class at school. She was chased from her home, mistreated by her grandmother until she agreed to marry this man who was 48 years old. The man already had many wives and children. Following their marriage the man mistreated the girl and beat her. After some time the girl could take it no longer so ran away from her home. After a few months she realized she was pregnant so reported this to the police who referred her to Wakisa Crisis Pregnancy Centre. The clinic helped her until she was ready to give birth. The girl wanted to continue with her schooling but had no one to care for the baby so she decided to request help from Sanyu Babies Home until she can care for the child herself. The police took the girl to an institution where she can continue with her schooling. Vivien is a cute little baby with the chubbiest cheeks, she is growing fast.

FEATURE: NURSE JULIET'S STORY

My name is Juliet Kiguli and I am one of the nurses at Sanyu Babies' Home. I have been caring for abandoned, destitute and orphaned babies at Sanyu for 8 years now. I am married and have 3 children. Working at Sanyu is a challenging and wonderful job, which has made me a better nurse and mother. Most of the children come in when they are very malnourished and very ill. When a child comes in I examine from head to toe, diagnose and prescribe medication if needed. If there needs are greater than we can manage at the home then I have to refer to either Mengo or International Hospital Kampala. We immunise all the children and test them for HIV on admission.

One particular child I remember arriving is Jude Senyonga, he was admitted in December 2009 and was 1 year old weighing only 5kgs. He was suffering with severe malnourishment and was very weak. We started him on treatment and a highly nutritious diet. Within 1 month he had gained 2 kgs. With the continuance of the diet and supplements plus love, care and attention he was soon able to start crawling. Jude was fostered in 2011 and was a strong, healthy toddler weighing over 18kgs. He is continuing to do well with his foster parents and it makes me very proud and happy to see how well he is doing, I miss him so much. It really is challenging for me when you bond with a child over a period of time and when the child is either reunited or fostered, despite being happy for them, knowing you will not see them again – oh that hurts the most!

CHRISTMAS PARTY

On 17th December 2011 we had our Christmas party at Sanyu Babies Home with all the staff, children and volunteers. We enjoyed a buffet, drinks, music, dancing and we presented those who had been nominated by other staff members for their excellent work and dedication to their jobs gifts which included mattresses and blankets. Many thanks to Judith Hard and many other generous donors who made the party possible. It definitely brought the joy of Christmas to Sanyu Babies' Home.

TRIP – TIME TO PLAY X 2

At the beginning of December the daycare nursery Time To Play invited all the children and staff to their centre for the day. The centre has swimming pools, play areas, bouncy castles, trampolines, a sand pit, soft play area – so a lot to keep the children entertained! The children had a great time as well as the staff. Many thanks for the staff at Time to Play for making this trip possible. We were lucky enough to be able to take the children again on January 31st thanks to donations from the UK. The children had a busy day choosing where to play next, as well as the staff learning to swim!

TRIP – UGANDA WILDLIFE EDUCATION CENTRE – THE ZOO!

On 16th February we took top class to the Zoo! In the week leading up to the trip we talked about the animals they would get to see and what noises they made. The children were very excited as we all packed into the vehicles and went on the hour journey. We had a guide that took us around and told us about all the animals, including why a crocodile lies with his mouth open... well ok I will share with you it is either to cool down or it has meat stuck in its teeth and there is a particular bird that acts as a tooth pick and pecks it out for the crocodile on the condition of not being eaten – FACT! We also saw zebras, ostriches, antelopes, giraffes, leopards, lions, rhinos, monkeys, parrots, camels and much more. The monkeys were mesmerised by the children and imitated them which amused them no end! The lions were growling at each other and then decided to start mating – not quite the education we were hoping for the children!!!

NEW BATHROOMS

Thanks to the generosity of The Holden Uganda Foundation we have had a much needed new bathroom area completed for the small babies. The area includes 3 small baths with shower attachments making it so much easier to bathe the babies. The money was raised through many individuals across the USA who completed a 5km Family Fun Run last year to help raise these much needed funds. We thank you so much!

VOLUNTEER REPORT: HANNAH MONNINGER

When I was about to finish High School last year I looked for a place to volunteer and spend my time before going to University. I wanted to do something good and at the same time broaden my mind and well... grow up! A friend of mine found Sanyu Babies' Home on the internet and after some emails with Barbara it was clear, I was going to Uganda for 6 months!

Once I had completed my final exams all my time was spent preparing for the trip. I got a job, did some busking, had my vaccinations and got organized.

Finally the 26th November 2011 arrived and suddenly I didn't feel that prepared anymore. Saying goodbye to my family and friends was tough, but I guess sometimes it must hurt if you want to grow...

My first few days at Sanyu weren't easy as I was really homesick, but the other volunteers and especially these adorable children helped me to remember that this is exactly what I wanted to do. Before I came to Sanyu I wasn't that into kids. I only decided to volunteer with children because I wanted to make sure my help is really needed and you can always help children, even if it's just making them smile. Now I am thankful for everyday I can spend with these naughty, innocent, cute, loud, screaming, giggling, adorable children, but then I can't imagine anyone not falling in love with them. Take Watson (Watsoniiii!) for example (that's us together in the picture!), the first day I spent here he was the naughtiest of them all and I said to myself "Oh keep away from that kid!"...Now I just can't resist him, I love the way he walks, his arms spread out like a dragonfly and when he stands in front of me looking up with his dark shiny eyes, his arms already spread out ready to be picked up and all he says is "Up!" I just have to pick him up and let him sit on my lap, even though the Mamas tell me he's too old and I should hold the tiny ones, (I know...) but I just love to cuddle him!! I love it when he makes me a birthday cake out of sand and starts singing Happy Birthday! I guess I can understand how hard it must be for parents not to spoil their kids too much... look at me, writing this – two months ago I had never even changed a nappy!!! I have learned so much here, most of it by doing and I love how it is still challenging. However I always know there are people I can ask for help, if I really don't know what to do.

So all in all I can say that I am glad to volunteer in such a great place. The kids get enough, food, clothes and love – as shocking as it is sometimes to see the condition of the new arrivals, it is great to watch their progression. It is one of the best experiences you can have, when a destitute child starts smiling after some days.

I am looking forward to the following 4 months and I just want to encourage everyone who is reading this to volunteer at Sanyu Babies' Home. It is challenging, inspiring, touching and an experience for life. Those who can't volunteer please keep supporting Sanyu so that it stays what it is now – A great place of hope...

ADOPTION STORY: JOURNEY FOR OUR NEW SON

In May of 2011, we were blessed to start our journey to adoption! As a family, we felt for a long time that we are meant to be more than a family of three (which has been the case since our son was born in 2007). Through the devastation and heartbreak of having multiple miscarriages over the last two years, we believed God was preparing our hearts for something huge. Through those hardships, we began seeking His will, not our own. We were super excited when He opened our eyes to International Adoption.

We feel Proverbs 24:12 says it best, "...Once our eyes have been opened, we can't pretend we don't know what to do. God, who weighs our hearts and keeps our souls, knows that we know, and holds us responsible to act."

With prayer and the desire to seek God's will, we explored and researched many options for adoption. God made it very clear to us what it is He wanted us to do. He wanted us to adopt from Uganda, Africa. More specifically, from Sanyu Babies' Home. He confirmed that to us when He gave us a beautiful baby boy, Solomon, in August 2011. In October, I was privileged to travel to Sanyu to meet him, get to know his home country, and to build a relationship with all who were loving and caring for him while we couldn't. When I had to leave him after only one week, I felt at nothing but peace after seeing how he was cared for at Sanyu. In January of 2012, my husband and I were able to travel back to Sanyu together to attend court and spend a month at the Babies' Home. It was such a blessed month. We got to see the hands, feet, and heart of Christ in all the workers at Sanyu. Everyone at Sanyu holds a very dear and special part of our hearts. We long for the day to bring Solomon back to his first home and to those who loved him first. Sanyu is, now, a forever part of us and we are so blessed because of that
